Chimney part 1	1,5 mm wall thickness grade 304 stainless steel inner tube. insulated, and clad with 0.7mm thick grade 430BA stainless steel - with heat control damper - 180 O/D	2 406,78	The first meter of the chimney—the section directly connected to the AVIN—is made from a thicker material and is a heavier piece. Thus, more expensive. This segment is intentionally designed this way, as it absorbs the most heat and carries the greatest thermal load. It's the core of the chimney's performance and safety.
Chimney remaining	0.5 thick/Grade 304SS seamless inner/insulated and clad with 304 SS - 180 O/D	2 170,79	The rest of the chimney is lighter and thinner, and this is intentional. These parts primarily serve heat flow, smoke extraction, and ventilation, and do not need to handle the same heat intensity. By maintaining this balance, we ensure optimal functionality without unnecessary weight or cost.
Extra components required for chimney installation		Cowl/Bends/Roof Seals/cover plates/brackets	Varies on design	Stainless/ Fully insulated/No single skins.

Optional Grade 304 castors - Additional cost 3500
